

TpT Holiday Gift Certificates

by Laura Candler

Give the gift of TpT this holiday season! This freebie includes two TpT gift certificates that you can customize by adding a gift card code purchased from TpT. Instead of printing the gift card that's emailed to you, print one of these festive certificates and customize it using one of these two options:

- Print one or more of the PDF certificates in this packet and fill them out by hand.
- Open the editable PowerPoint file and type the details and/or a personal directly on each certificate before printing it.

How to Obtain TpT Gift Card Codes

To purchase gift card codes from TpT, go to TeachersPayTeachers.com and click the Gift Card link at the top. Order the gift cards and choose the option to have them emailed to you instead of to the recipients. Then print them and write the name of each recipient on the gift card you would have sent the person. Keep them for your records because if one of the recipients loses his or her card, you can send the person the code if you know who received each gift code number. If you don't want to print them, create a chart of the information like the one below.

Name	Amount	Gift Code
Sally Barnes	$25	5x92v831
John Thomas	$25	Z49wx387
Linda Fairwell	$50	wz8C3a5

How to Customize the Gift Certificates

There are 2 gift certificate designs and 3 options for printing them. The first page includes both designs. The next page has 2 copies of the Christmas certificate, and the third page has 2 copies of the holiday certificate. The certificates are smaller than 8.5" by 11" paper because some printers won't print color all the way to the edge. You might have experiment to find the best settings to print them, so try printing in draft mode the first time.

Option 1: Print and Write

The easiest way to customize the gift certificates is to print out page 3, 4, or 5 in this PDF file and write the information on the lines provided. Be sure to assign each person a unique gift code number because each gift code can only be used once!

Option 2: Customize and Print

If you want to be able to type on the certificates or add a personal message, you can customize the certificates in the PowerPoint file. They look similar to the PDF versions, but they don't have lines for writing.

The words in the editable text box will look different from the ones on these images if you don't have Janda Elegant Handwriting installed on your computer. If you like this free font from Kimberly Geswein, download it from her TpT store and install it before continuing.

To customize the certificates, click inside the text box and type the required information. To add a personal message, add it where you'd like it to appear in the text box, and then resize the fonts or line spacing to fit the message onto the certificate. Unfortunately, you won't be able to edit the background or images on these templates due to the clip art terms of use. Sorry!

I hope you enjoy using these TpT Holiday Gift Certificates! Giving the gift of a TpT gift certificate is like giving the gift of time. Less time spent planning and preparing for school means more time for family and life beyond the classroom! Hmmm... why not give yourself one, too! You deserve it!
